MR. AND MRS. THOMAS FOSTER, Who are visiting at Hornellsville, N. Y., are the parents of a very remark shie child, who is now sixteen years of age. The young man is only fourteen inches high and weighs but eight pounds when dressed. He is probably the smallest child of his age in the world. The boy is as intelligent as the average boy of his age. He enjoys good health, and is as playful as any child. The father weighs over two hundred pounds.

By the careful and laborious expertments of Mr. Power, one of the Medical Inspectors of the London Local Board, and of Dr. Klein, of the Brown Institution, it has been apparently established that milk is a means of transmitting scarlet fever and diphtheria as well. It has also been shown that scarlet fever itself is the effect or the accompaniment of a micrococcus with distinct characteristics, which, on the other hand, is itself produced by, or an accompaniment of, an eruptive disease on the cow's udders.

SQUEAKING, gibbering ghosts are very common this summer, and they are not, as usual, confined to one line of trade. In fact they appear suddenly to all sorts of people, under all sorts of condition. One has been convected of going into an engine room at Worces-ter, Mass., and driving the engineer from his post. Every one recognizes the apparition as an old employe whe was killed a couple of years previously. In several other sections of our country, it is claimed, these ghostly visitors

HORRIBLE STORY.

A Man Utters a Curse, Which Comes True

at His Funeral.

READING, PA., July 27.—Hillary Hoganshelf and Alvin Kemming lived on adjoining farms in Monroe County. They had a quarrel about a new fence, went to law and
Mr. Hoganshelf was defeated. Hoganshelf then commanded Kemming never to speak to him, and even remain from his funeral. He warned his people and hoped lightning would strike his coffin if his wishes were not respected. Finally, Hoganshelf took sick, and again emphasized his wishes about Kemming. Death soon came, but Kemming was invited to be a pallbearer, and he accepted. The funeral took place. and nothing happened until the straps were being removed from under the coffin. Sud-denly a black cloud sailed over the heavens and rain fell in torrents. A flash of lightning, startling everybody, crashed into the grave and split the coffin. The mourners fied in terror, and the grave was not clos until after the storm.

Watchers About a Coffin Struck De. n. OTTAWA, ONT., July 27 .- A terrific thun derstorm passed over this section lass night. Friends of the aunt of Jos. God lerau, who lay dead in her coffin, at hi house, were making morry at the wake. While the mirth was at its height a bolt of lightning descended the chimney, and striking the coffin, which was near the fireplac broke it open. Two young men, Eugene Gareau and Francis X. Bauvier, were in-stantly killed. The electric fluid then made the circuit of the chamber, causing the half-dozen other occupants of the room to faint with the shock.

Died at the Age of 153 Years. BALTIMORE, July 27.—The certificate of Wm. Scott, colored, was filed at the office of the Health Department this evening. The certificate gave the age of the deceased as being 153 years, and was signed by a reputable practicing physician. A visit to the residence of the deceased was made by a reporter of the United Press. A knock on the door was responded to by a very aged-looking and decrepit negress, who hobbled along with the aid of a cane. The woman proved to be the daughter of the deceased. She is seventy-four years of age and said she was the youngest of six children by the first wife. The face of the dead man was greatly emaciated, the cheeks and eyes were sunken and the skin was shriveled. The man's relatives claim that he remembered all about the Revolutionary War the signing of the treaty of peace between the United States and Great Britain and the death of General Washington. He may not have attained the great age of on hundred and fifty-three, but he doubtless lived more than a century by several years

Twenty Killed.

AMSTERDAM, July 27 .- It is believed that twenty persons were killed and eighty wounded in the riots yesterday and Sunlay, caused by the police preventing the 'eel-killing" games. The wounded include no less than forty-two policemen and sol-diers. It is not thought that the figures given represent fully the casualties of the riots, as many of those who were wounded escaped or were removed by friends from the scene of the trouble. What a Girl Saw on an Alleged Visit to Heaven.

Trees Are God's Throne and the River His Conseless Love.

COLUMBUS, MISS., July 28.-Mollie Per nington, a thirteen-year-old daughter of a farmer near Vernon, Ala., is creating an excitement in her vicinity. Early in the spring she took sick. On the 17th ult., she was taken with violent spasms, and physicians diagnosed the case as hydrophobia. She attempted to bite those around her. On the 24th of June she swooned away, and apparently died. An hour afterward she surprised them all by opening she surprised them all by opening her eyes and springing from the bod, where she had been confined for weeks, and amazed them still more by claiming she had just returned from Heaven, and that God hadcured her and sent her back onto the earth that she might verify the statements of the Bible. Her sayings then were so unnatural that many of the aeigh-bors were frightened away. The day after ward she declared she was a prophet and a disciple of Jesus Christ, and by her wonder ful sayings created much excitement. Sh expounds intelligently any passage of the Bible that is said to her. She describes God arrayed in garments as white as snow and around him throng his angels, all singing praises to Him with curious and musical instruments. Her description of Heaven is as told in the last chapt elations. When asked about the looks of the trees and rivers of beaven she said: "Why, don't you know the trees are the throne of God and the river is His never ceasing flow of love, that each sinner may be washed as pure and clean as His angels with Him." Angels, she said, resembled infants; yet they were not of fiesh and blood, but a spirit beautiful beyond comparison. She cured, it is claimed, two sickly babies who had refused to take the medicine of the physician, and by a single touch she restored them to their mothers, laughing instead of crying, as she took them. She uses language devoid of rhetoric, yet her meaning can not be misunderstood. Rev. Thomas Springfield, postmaster at Vernon, and pastor of the Baptist Church, declares the girl is an in-spired being, while others denounce the idea that there is anything supernatural

Daring Grab Theft in a Bank

CHICAGO, July 28 .- A daring daylight robbery occurred at the Prairie State Loan and Trust Company's Bank, at 110 Wash-ington Boulevard, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. S. Mex., that he was a horse-thief, was taken from the Mexican prison eight hours after his incarceration, carried two miles below Piedras Negras, with his hands tied behind him, and brutally shot and buried at the command of Mondragon.
The secret underlying this infamous outrage is that Rasures had won the affections of a woman of whom Chief Mondragon was enamored. Mondragon swearing vengeance, detailed two of his trusty lieutenants one night to murder his rival.
Rasures badly disabled his assailants and escaped to Eagle Pass. Mondragon, howescaped to Eagle Pass. Mondragon, how-ever, determined his removal, trumped up a charge of horsetheft against him and had bim extradited and shot. The night that Rasures was delivered to the Mexican authorities Mondragon left for Saltilto not, however, before having de-livered orders to his lieutenants to execute Rasures. The victim, in a pathetic letter, appealed to United States Consul Lynn to isen, guiltless of any transgression against any law, and that Mondragon had had him any law, and that Mondragon had had him arrested to gratify his vengeance. This letter was delivered to Consul Lynn ten hours after its author had been basely shot. Consul Lynn has telegraphed the facts of the case to Secretary Bayard.

Rolling-Mill and Many Other Building Wrecked-Workmen Dangerously Hurt.

COLUMBUS, O., July 80 .- A regular tor Columnus, C., July 30.—A regular for-nado struck this city this afternoon. Buildings were unroofed, trees unrooted, chimneys blown over, windows knocked out, streets flooded, sewers washed in, and sad havoc generally was played. The most serious damage occurred at the Co-lumbus Rolling Mill, in the northwest part of the city. This building—a frame structure 300 feet long by 110 feet wide, covered with a slate roof—lies an in-describable mass of ruins. There were structure 300 feet long by 110 feet wide, covered with a slate roof-lies an indescribable mass of ruins. There were only thirty-five men employed about the mill. The wind was sw-oping over the open ground from the northwest with tremendous fury, bending trees and filling the atmosphere with debris of all kinds. There was a great, roaring sound, and the next minute the great ventilator on top of the roof was lifted up and dropped down, falling through the roof. A moment later the roof itself was up in the air as if by magic. The employes, when they heard the cracking of the roof-timbers, made a wild rush to get out of the building, and most of them succeeded, although when they got out they scarcely knew where to go, the air was so full of fiving pieces of slate and other debris. Edward Blackly had a miraculous escape. He was in the center of the building, and, being unable to get out, took refuge under a large beam. The roof came down with a crash, but, strange to say, Blackly escaped uninjured, the beam protecting him from the falling timbers. Seven or eight workmen were severely, and two or three dangerously wounded. The immense brick structure used as a union depot was also greatly damaged. Almost the entire roof was carried away, and, remarkable as it may appear, with the hundreds of people in the depot at the time, but one is known to have sustained serious injuries.

It Was Good Dynamite, Sure Enough.
